

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Malmstrom to Lead Douglas Scientific

Alexandria, MN, January 15, 2009 – Douglas Scientific, a division of Douglas Machine Inc. and provider of patented array tape technology for bioscience laboratories, announced today that Dan Malmstrom has joined the division as General Manager.

Recently, Douglas Scientific has experienced rapid market acceptance of its revolutionary array tape platform for high throughput laboratory screening, prompting the Douglas Machine Inc. board of directors to make several personnel additions to prepare for global scale.

Malmstrom brings extensive high-tech executive experience to Douglas Scientific including roles with the IBM Corporation and Great Plains Software (now Microsoft). In addition, Malmstrom has a rich background as an entrepreneur and founder of several successful high-tech firms.

“We are thrilled to have Dan join our executive team,” stated Vern Anderson, Chairman of Douglas Machine Inc. “His track record of attracting people and building great companies is proven many times over. Douglas Scientific is poised for global expansion, and Dan is just the guy to see it through.”
